

Ndawo provides global experience through collaboration with international partnerships

Ndawo Consulting prides themselves on the teaching and instilling of Values bases within individuals and organizations. As such, they are widely considered to be the de facto standard for providing coaching and training that focuses on the cosmology of personal growth.

The focus of Ndawo's work is on the development and enhancement of the combination of an individuals' Emotional; Spiritual and Social Intelligence – its all about developing the "inner world" of people.

The extension of the Consultancy's bouquet of services to include the Ndawo Certificate in Coaching; the OLA programme and Superworking extends the scope of opportunities for individuals and organisations whilst continuing to focus on the value of providing coaching and training experiences that go beyond "what works at work" for that individual to "what works for that individual as a person" which translates to their working environment. The premise rests on authentic change management – more authentic individuals are not only better leaders, managers or employees, they are more authentic people.

iCoach

i-coach academy is collaborating with Ndawo Consulting to deliver a Foundation Coaching Programme in South Africa. The Foundation Coaching Programme will provide a pathway to further study and a postgraduate qualification through the recently launched Africa Centre for Individualised Learning and Coaching (ACILC).

OLA

The UK-based Oxford Leadership Academy is an international management company and executive training firm with offices based in Oxford, Stockholm, Melbourne and Hong Kong. OLA also operates through a network of consultancy affiliates and accredited trainers throughout the world. In future this will include Ndawo in South Africa.

Superworking

Be a super worker. Superworking is an initiative that was developed in Australia and is making its way to South Africa together with Ndawo Consulting to enhance the well being of ones work ethic and understanding within the organization. Superworking helps you work in the most productive and efficient way thereby making you a Super Worker.